CONSTITUTION.

I.

NAME.

The name of this Association shall be the "DEMOCRATIC CLUB OF MASSACHUSETTS."

II.

OBJECTS.

The objects of this Club shall be : to foster and disseminate Democratic principles ; to secure the active participation in politics of those who have hitherto been indifferent to political duties, or who have been prevented from performing them ; to bring about the election of honest and capable men to all public offices ; and to secure the purity of elections : but the Club shall take no part in the municipal politics. Having the general and familiar principles of Democracy as its basis of belief, it shall from time to time publicly declare the specific measures to which it desires to see the Democracy pledged in coming campaigns.

III.

MEETINGS.

1. The annual meeting of the Club shall be held at Boston on the third Monday of December in each year.

2. The regular meetings of the Club ^{may} ~~shall~~ be held on the third Monday of March, May, September, October, and December of each year. ~~Special~~ meetings may be called by the Executive Committee or by the President whenever twenty-five members shall present to him a written request for the same, specifying the object of the meeting, which object shall be stated in the notice of the meeting sent to the members.

3. At any such special meeting there may be transacted any and all business not required by this Constitution to be done at a regular meeting.

4. Twenty-five members shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but a less number may meet and adjourn to a day certain.

5. Notices of every meeting must be sent by the Secretary to each member at least three days before the time appointed for the meeting.

IV.

OFFICERS.

The officers of this Club shall be a President, Vice-President, not to exceed in number the electoral votes to which Massachusetts may be entitled, a Secretary, a Treasurer, an Exccutive Committee of sixteen members, an Elections Committee of nine members, and a Committee on Finance of five members.

V.

NOMINATION AND ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

1. The President, Vice-Presidents, Secretary, and Treasurer shall be elected by ballot on the third Monday in December in each year.

The Executive Committee shall be elected by ballot as follows: at each annual meeting there shall be elected four members to serve for one year and four members to serve for three years.

2. The Executive Committee, in October of each year, shall appoint a Committee of at least five members, none of whom shall be officers of the Club, to nominate candidates for the offices to be filled at the next annual meeting, which Committee shall report to the Secretary on or before the second Monday in November; and the Secretary shall mail to each member of the Club at least four weeks before the annual meeting a list of the candidates so nominated.

3. Candidates for any of the offices to be filled at the annual election may be nominated by twenty-five members of the club, provided such nominations are in writing, and are handed to the Secretary not less than fifteen days before the annual meeting.

4. The Secretary shall prepare two sets of ballots, one white and the other colored, substantially on the Australian plan, for use at the annual election, which shall contain all the nominations made in accordance with the foregoing sections, except where a candidate has withdrawn his name. He shall also keep all such nominations posted in the place provided for such purposes in the Club rooms during the ten days preceding the annual meeting.

The Secretary shall mail one colored ballot, with a ballot envelope, to each member of the Club living outside of the county of Suffolk, the cities of Cambridge, Everett, Lynn, Malden, Medford, Newton, Quincy, Somerville, Woburn, and Waltham, and the towns of Arlington, Belmont, Braintree, Brookline, Dedham, Hyde Park, Melrose, Milton, Saugus, Stoneham, Wakefield, Watertown, and Winchester, at least one week before election, together with such instructions regarding voting by mail as may be made by the Executive Committee. Any member entitled to receive a ballot, as above provided, may forward his ballot to the Secretary in accordance with said instructions; and, if received by twelve o'clock noon on the day of election, the member's name shall be marked M.B. on the check-list, and the ballot shall be cast and counted as hereinafter provided, except where withdrawn as hereinafter provided in Clause 5. All ballots shall be put, unopened, into a locked box, which shall not be opened until after the opening of the polls.

5. At the opening of the annual meeting the presiding officer shall appoint ^{two} ~~three~~ members to act ~~with the Secretary and Treasurer~~ as tellers to receive and canvass the votes; and, in case of the absence of the Secretary or Treasurer, he shall appoint tellers to act in their stead. No person who is a candidate for any office shall act as teller, except that the Secretary and Treasurer may so act, whether they are candidates or not.

After the polls have been opened at least one hour, the box containing the mailed ballots, received as provided in Section 4, shall be opened by the Secretary, who, if the members sending the ballots have not voted, shall open the envelopes and deposit the ballots contained therein in the ballot box. Any member who has sent his ballot to the Secretary, as provided in Section 4, may demand its return at any time before presenting himself to vote in person, or may, when his name is called and before the ballot is cast, demand that it be given back to him; and in either such case the envelope shall be returned unopened, and he may vote in person. No member shall be allowed to vote in person who has deposited a ballot with the Secretary, as provided in Section 4, until he has demanded and received the ballot so deposited. No member shall be allowed to vote a colored ballot in person.

6. The Committee on Admissions shall be called the Elections Committee; and immediately after the passage of this amendment its membership shall be increased to nine by the election by the Executive Committee of four additional members to serve with the present members until January 1, 1894.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES

ADOPTED BY THE DEMOCRATIC CLUB OF MASSACHUSETTS, AUGUST 24, 1904

The Democratic Club of Massachusetts, holding the principles of the Declaration of Independence to be good for all peoples and all time, and that the necessity of following them and of maintaining the government in strict accordance with the limitations of the Constitution was never greater, or the danger of ignoring and suppressing those principles and of overstepping those limitations never more imminent, hereby reaffirms its faith in the Declaration of Independence and in Constitutional government, and demands a speedy return to the spirit of the one and to the letter of the other.

Believing it wise to define at this time its position upon National and State affairs, it hereby submits the following statement of principles and policies, which it holds existing conditions require to be adopted and pursued.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS.

(1) The present tariff to be so revised, not at the "pleasure of its friends," but at once, as, without substantial disturbance to legitimate business interests, shall best promote the welfare of the people; shall make government revenues bear a reasonable relation to government requirements, thereby checking a fruitful source of extravagance; shall cut off or reduce rates now so high as to foster trusts and monopolies and permit exorbitant profits at the expense of domestic consumers; shall include in the free list all so-called raw materials and all articles where the competing American article is sold abroad for less than at home; shall grant free trade between the United States and all of its insular possessions; and as shall give access to foreign markets by American producers through mutually advantageous commercial agreements with foreign countries and especially with the Dominion of Canada. No duty to be increased and no new duty ever again to be imposed for the purpose of protection.

(2) Regulation of trusts under existing or such other legislation as may be found necessary, the points of prime importance being that on the one hand there shall be no use of the government as an instrumentality for the creation and increase of the wealth of a favored few, and that on the other there shall be full recognition of the right of private property and of liberty of contract, and of the title of every man to the just rewards of his superior industry and skill.

(3) Our merchant marine to be rehabilitated by obvious changes in antiquated and restrictive statutes, not by any novel and grotesque extension of the system of high protection.

(4) While adhering to the position which the Club has always advocated, that the present standard of value should be maintained, we regard the question as settled and not now a political issue.

(5) Economy to be exercised in national expenditures. The government expenses for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1896, were $365,000,000; for the year ending June 30, 1904, they were $582,000,000. Seven years of Republican administration has increased the expenditures from $1,000,000 a day to nearly $1,600,000 a day.

(6) No questioning of the right of labor to combine for the assertion of its legal rights and the lawful protection of its interests.

(7) The faithful observance and wider application of civil service principles, especially as regards our diplomatic and consular representatives abroad and in the conduct of the government business in our insular possessions.

(8) The election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people is essential to the preservation of the purity of the national government.

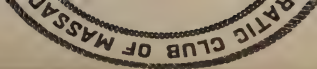

(9) A navy adequate to sustaining the dignity of the nation and to the protection of the lives and property of American citizens the world over and a regular army large enough to meet the needs of a government bent on peace with the nations of the world. Any use of either unlawfully to coerce a weaker nation to be opposed.

(10) Believing that a canal between the Atlantic and Pacific, constructed, owned, and controlled by the United States, would be of enormous advantage to the commerce of this and of all other nations, and that commercial intercourse develops friendship and amity between nations, we regret that the first step towards securing such a world's highway was not taken "with the nicest and most scrupulous honor" rather than by speciously disguised acts of war, which would have led to actual war with a sister republic had she been a power able to attack this nation.

(11) Arbitration treaties with other nations on the principles suggested in the Olney-Pauncefote proposed treaty between this nation and Great Britain to be earnestly sought.

(12) Such government of the Philippines as, while enabling the United States to fulfil all international obligations, shall give to the inhabitants thereof the largest measure of "home rule" and individual liberty they are capable of exercising, to the end that distinctive American principles may not be abandoned nor distinctive American ideals lost sight of.

In all our dealing with the Philippine peoples they are to be regarded not as subjects of the United States, but as its wards, whose interests are to be our first consideration. In that view it is never to be forgotten that it is "liberty which fits men for liberty," and that to postpone indefinitely and for generations the right of the Filipinos to the privileges of freemen amounts practically to a denial of opportunity as well as of hope.

DECLARATION OF PRINCIPLES.

Adopted by the Democratic Club of Massachusetts. January 20, 1902.

NATIONAL AFFAIRS.

(1) We believe in a government that shall protect the rights of man as fully as it does the rights of property — that shall legislate for the whole people instead of for a class.

The taxing power of the government of the whole people should not be used in the interest of a few, either in the form of a ship subsidy, an unnecessary or extravagant pension, a protective tariff, or a duty which fosters trusts or monopolies.

The supremacy of moneyed influence in the Republican party is destructive of popular government. That influence has drawn the schedules of the present tariff, it has dictated the legislation with reference to our dependencies, and it has thus far defeated the reciprocity treaties pending before the Senate for confirmation. The issue is plain. The contest is between the people and the great interests which have been enriched by protective tariffs and the cession of public franchises.

(2) We oppose the Republican policy of acquiring dependencies and governing them without the rights and safeguards of the Constitution. We believe it to be contrary to the principles of civil liberty on which the government of the United States was founded, and of which it has hitherto been the exponent.

We believe that our government should at once declare its intention to give to the people of the Philippine Islands their independence, as soon as they are capable of maintaining a separate and stable government.

(3) We believe the United States can become and remain the leading financial and commercial nation only by maintaining an unfluctuating standard of value and by casting off the burden of a protective tariff and entering unencumbered the markets of the world.

We believe that it is the plain duty of Congress to grant freedom of trade between the United States and all of its territory or territories.

(4) We believe in legislation adequate to control combinations of capital and requiring publicity of the accounts of corporations and stringent enforcement of such legislation by the executive authorities.

(5) We believe that the Republican policy of surrender by the national House of Representatives of its deliberative and legislative functions is a betrayal of its constituents and of the principles of our government.

(6) We believe that the merit system should be applied rigorously to our domestic civil service, to our consular, diplomatic, and military services, and to appointments in the new territory. Our commercial development demands a trained body of men not subject to removal for political reasons.

(13) Any territorial expansion demanded by the national welfare and the national safety, and assented to by the people of the territory to be acquired, to be favored, the objections which should have prevented certain of our recent accessions being that they were made in absolute disregard of the inhabitants thereof; that they imperil the national safety without promoting the national welfare; that they devolve upon us enormous responsibilities we had no call to assume; that they are certain to be an immense and unremunerative drain upon our resources; that they tend to embroil us with European powers; and that they weaken our claim to supremacy on the American continents.

(14) Respect for and obedience to the law on the part of Presidents, heads of departments, and all public officers, as well as on the part of private citizens, to be rigidly insisted upon, lawlessness in high places, whatever its immediate consequences, being demoralizing by its example and being the inspiration as well as ready justification of lynch law, mob law, and all forms of illegal violence.

STATE AFFAIRS.

(1) The greatest independence in local government compatible with the best interest of the Commonwealth to be allowed individual municipalities. No special laws affecting individual towns or cities to be passed by the legislature or administered by State officials or appointees without the assent of the municipality so affected.

(2) Valuable privileges and franchises to be granted only upon full compensation and with limitations to protect the rights of the people. Such grants as vitally affect the interest of a particular locality to be submitted by referendum to the people of that locality.

(3) The government of the State to be economically administered. The increase in State and county taxes, the authorized enormous expenditures of State commissions, and the excessive salaries paid to many commissioners, totally disproportionate to services rendered, are to be condemned.

(4) The Executive Department to be reorganized, to the end that greater power and absolute responsibility for the conduct of the business of the Commonwealth may be placed upon the Governor.

Heads of departments, now elected, to be appointed by the Governor, who should have absolute power of removal of any executive official.

We oppose the purchase of party power by the bestowal of the public patronage. We believe that the time of public officials should be devoted to the public service and not to the partition of the public offices.

(7) We believe in the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people.

STATE AFFAIRS.

(1) The local affairs of cities and towns should not be administered from the State House.

(2) We believe in the enlargement of the powers of municipalities to enable them to perform any function conducive to the welfare of their citizens.

(3) Franchises and privileges which belong of right to the people should be granted with the consent of the people, expressed through the medium of the referendum, for limited terms and with full compensation.

(4) To insure a harmonious, economical, and responsible administration of State affairs the heads of departments now elected by popular vote should be appointed by the governor, and should have seats in the Legislature without votes; and the executive business of the State should be conducted by those departments, and not through commissions. The governor should have unrestricted power to remove any officials appointed by him, so that he may be in fact responsible to the people.

(13) Any territorial expansion demanded by the national welfare and the national safety, and assented to by the people of the territory to be acquired, to be favored, the objections which should have prevented certain of our recent accessions being that they were made in absolute disregard of the inhabitants thereof; that they imperil the national safety without promoting the national welfare; that they devolve upon us enormous responsibilities we had no call to assume; that they are certain to be an immense and unremunerative drain upon our resources; that they tend to embroil us with European powers; and that they weaken our claim to supremacy on the American continents.
